NEW ORLEANS GREYS
Muster Roll of Breece's Company

For an explanation of the situation leading to the formation of this company, see AGS Quarterly XX p. 37. Apparently the muster roll was compiled from memory and no attempt was made to alphabetize it. For the convenience of the reader, it has been re-arranged with surnames first for the privates.

In addition to the muster roll per se, there is a "Detailed Report of Names of those persons who Volunteered and formed the Second Division in the attack on San Antonio de Bexar and entered the house of Berramender [Veramendil] on the night of the 5th of Decr 1835 under Command of Col. F.M. Johnston [Frank W. Johnson] assisted by Cols J. Grant & W.T. Austin, Adjt N.R. Brister & Dr. Jno Cameron."

These names are numbered; the number and variant spelling, if any, appear in parentheses following the name shown on muster roll.

Each name has been looked up in Thomas Lloyd Miller's Bounty and Donation Land Grants of Texas, for participation in the Siege of Bexar entitled a man to the latter. Data found is shown below in this format:

1. Veteran received Donation Certificate for --- acres on --- [date] for participation in the Siege of Bexar [5-9 Dec 1835] or for other service. --- acres were patented to veteran (or heirs) in --- County on ---. Or, the grant was patented by an assignee.

2. Veteran received Bounty Warrant for --- acres on --- for service in the Army from ca 22 Oct 1835 until ---, etc. It is advisable to consult the book for information on assignees and heirs, etc. Of course, there is no assurance that the veteran lived on the land he received, or that grantees with names similar to those on the muster roll are actually the same man. Everything printed herein needs a thorough checking out -- these are possibilities, not facts.

EARLY CHURCH FATHERS--AND MOTHERS
Clergy and Members of Pioneer Texas Churches

Since the preponderance of the material in AGS Quarterly lately has been of the military roster type, your editor has been looking for records that name women of the pioneer days. While reading Historic Churches of Texas [see review in this issue], I was glad to see that sometimes women were given credit for helping to establish some of the earlier congregations.

Of course, I cannot reveal all the valuable data that the authors include in the book, but I hope (by listing names only) to pique your interest enough to motivate you to obtain a copy. To further tantalize you, I omit people's titles, years, and names of churches.

Since the book groups the churches by denominations--and by "Ethnic Churches"--I have listed, by denomination and then by towns, the clergy and members who were mentioned from the 1830s up to about 1925. (Sometimes no time period is given.) Readers can easily find the names, pictures and histories of the respective churches by consulting Table of Contents and Index of Historic Churches of Texas.

In our finding aid, ministers and members are intermingled in alphabetical order. It will be noticed that some clergymen served in several towns. This feature will be continued as space allows.

Corporal Names: The informative program presented in June by Dr. Jack A. Dabbs, Onomatologist, reminded me of something read some time ago. It averred that the favorite names for feminine triplets were taken from Job 42:14-15 (R.S.V.): "And in all the land were no women found so fair as the daughters of Job" who were Je-mi'-ma, Ke-zi'-ah, and Ker-en-hap-puch.
In March 1847, Mexican guerrilla operations inspired rumors of disaster which nearly panicked Col. Samuel R. Curtis of the Ohio Volunteers, commander of the garrison at Camargo. Supposing the Army to be in peril, he initiated calls for more troops, including 2,000 mounted men from Texas to be mobilized for six months. They were directed to rendezvous at San Antonio; the soonest-organized unit set out for Mexico about the end of April.

But about the 20th of May Gen. Zachary Taylor deemed Colonel Curtis' emergency "notoriously long since passed away," and ordered the troops back to San Antonio in hopes that they would re-enlist in 12-month companies. His Order No. 60 directed that the regiment be paid "as if it had been called into service by authority of the War Department or the commanding general."

Part of one company (Hill's), en route for Mexico, did not receive General Taylor's order to return to San Antonio for discharge. Mustered in on 14 April, it was the only company to be assigned a letter (Co. A), and was mustered out at Monterrey on 16 June 1847.

Captain Snell's company existed only 23 days—the shortest term of any. The men of this regiment were enrolled between 10 March and 14 May. The respective dates of mustering out in San Antonio were: 2 June 1847 (companies commanded by Captains Gillet and Long), 4 June (Gillaspie, Muckleroy and Smith), 5 June (Clark, Crump, Sims, Snell, commander and staff).

Sequence of Data from 1850 Census of Texas: NAME; COUNTY & ORIGINAL PAGE NO.; NUMBER OF FAMILY VISITED; AGE; f or m (if sex is not obvious from name); OCCUPATION; VALUE OF REAL PROPERTY; PLACE OF BIRTH; OTHER INFORMATION. Having found page on the census in Accelerated Index, the numbering of the visitations leads one to the entry in Mrs. Carpenter's transcription, to which I am indebted in some instances (where the microfilm is illegible), but which often may be interpreted differently.

ACKLIN, Christopher B. "Kit" was a long-time Ranger, serving first in this war as a private under Capt. R.A. "Ad" Gillespie. Later Acklin was a captain in the Texas Mounted Rifles. See AGS Quarterly XIX:122; Barton's Texas Volunteers in the Mexican War, pp. 7, 31, 93. He left in the "Gold Rush" before 1850 Census of Texas.

1776 CENSUS OF MARYLAND, compiled by Bettie Stirling Carothers, 1510 Cranwell Road, Lutherville MD 21093. Spiral bound; 212 pp. including 50-page, full-name index. $10; order from compiler.

This 1776 Census of Maryland is clearly typed and arranged for easy use, but one might wish there had been more explanation. For example, why was this census taken? The reason would seem to be to determine the number eligible for military service in, e.g., Frederick County, which has a list of males between 16 and 50, same for females, then over 50, and finally under 16.

But in Anne Arundel County, there is only one list, showing the head of household, number of white males, white females, white children, black males, black women, black children, and the taxables. Judging from the figures, a man and his adult slaves were taxable (unless over age). If a woman was head of the household, she was not taxable but her adult blacks were. If she had some white males in her household, they and her black women and men were taxable. When these columns do not tally, I presume some were past the age to be taxed, or was there an error in transcribing?

Apparently there were no uniform instructions from county to county, and even the parishes and hundreds in some counties were tabulated differently. Sometimes specific ages and names are given (even for infants), while other enumerators merely noted how many males and females were in certain age brackets, as in early Federal censuses.

And there's always the suspicious character: several men "refuse to give a list of their families!"

In 1776 Census of Maryland, Ms. Carothers says she included Black people if both first and last names were in the records. I do not see any designated Black; many names are followed by "servant," but I believe they were indentures persons, not slaves, for some household listings are concluded with "3 Negroes & 1 Servant."

In rare instances occupations (doctor, school teacher) are given, but an even greater boon to genealogists is the designation of their fathers' names to distinguish men of the same name: John Watkins [son] of Gassoway [not a place; index shows a Gassaway Watkins]; Joseph Williams of Benj.; Thomas Fowler of William; Wm. Iiams of George; Wm. "Iiams" [Iiams or Ijams] of John.

This is a very interesting book to browse in; discovering the age of a female ancestor in her childhood is a rare treat indeed in store for those lucky enough to have one in, say, Harford County.

People who are researching in Maryland would do well to look up the May 1981 Genealogy (No. 61, edited by Willard Heiss). It contains several pages of books about that state which are recommended by P. William Filby, including five edited by Bettie S. Carothers.

AGS members and friends who contributed toward the purchase of this book (which has been placed in the Genealogy Section of Texas

This tremendous publication contains 200 family history articles published originally in The Register of the Kentucky Historical Society (Vols. A-M and 0-Y, $35 each), and in The Filson Club History Quarterly (917 pp., $35).

Separate installments have been reunited into complete articles, and, a crowning glory, a full personal-name index has been made of each volume. Introductory remarks by the current editors of these prestigious periodicals precede the articles.

One advantage of these mini-genealogies' having been first published in periodicals is that corrections and additions were sometimes printed in subsequent issues.

Two surprising bits of information gleaned from surveying these volumes: the name Filson is derived from Philipson, and Good(k)night came from Gutknecht.

The Filson Club's primary purpose is the "publication of historic [emphasis mine] matter, especially that pertaining to the State of Kentucky"; the present editor was surprised to learn that in the 38 volumes issued so far (1885-1938; 1969- ), over 40 articles pertain to genealogical research as opposed to historical and biographical. In the Table of Contents, the original volume number, pages and year(s) are given for each article reproduced in this set. The titles of the articles tend to be long and descriptive, facilitating identification of the family branch; in some cases, several articles pertain to the same family.

It would have been helpful if a guide to the illustrations had been included. In the Filson Club reprints alone are 50-odd portraits, maps, pedigree charts; pictures of homes, monuments, coats of arms, and holographic documents.

Although it is perhaps not obvious at first glance, the articles are generally arranged in alphabetical order of the principal surname treated therein. Remarkably, there are no N's (except spouses, found in indexes) spotlighted in either series.

The two volumes (Allen-Moss and Owens-Young) of reprints from The Register of the Kentucky Historical Society contain all the strictly genealogical articles published in the Register between 1903 and 1965 (when genealogical contributions were discontinued) except some by William E. Railey which were published in 1938 (reprinted 1975) as the History of Woodford County, Kentucky.

In addition, pages 679-776 of the 0-Y volume contain Bible Records and several short family histories that have appeared in the Register. There are fewer illustrations in these two volumes.

As might be expected, the articles (in their original typefaces) are of unequal length and calibre (very big on Boones!), but among 50,000 names there is surely one of interest to each American genealogist. These volumes have been placed in the Genealogy Section of Texas State Library. Under the AGS Matching Funds Book Acquisition Program, our members and other library patrons who contributed toward the purchase were: Barbara & Jerry Goudreau, Marjorie Muegge, Edith Macdonald, Nelda V. & Gordon Griffin, Johnie Reeves, Andrea Nagel, Katherine Lemburg, Mrs. John M. HISTORIC CHURCHES OF TEXAS: The Land and the People by Frank A. Driskill and Noel Grisham. 1980, xiv + 336 pp., illustrations, map, bibliography, full-name index; hard-bound. $17.80 postpaid from Eakin Press, P.O. Drawer AG, Burnet TX 78611.

Historic Churches of Texas is as handsome as it is informative. The authors, both retired Texas educators with experience in other fields as well, traversed the state to gather material about the establishment of early Texas congregations in the "seven major church groups," and about ethnic churches, Jewish synagogues, and churches with out-of-the-ordinary features. And they included almost as many good clear photographs as there are pages of text.

The front end papers portray a county map of the state with 54 church locations marked and keyed. The Table of Contents makes it easy to find the sketch of each church under the following classifications (impartially arranged in alphabetical order): The Baptists, Catholics, Disciples of Christ/Christian Church, Church of Christ, Episcopalians, Methodists, Presbyterians, and "Ethnic Churches" (erected by Czechs, Danes, French, Germans, Greeks, Jews, Mexican Protestants, Negroes, Norwegians, Poles, Swedes and Wends). Then there is a group described as "Churches with Unusual Features."

Wisely avoiding any attempt to discuss theology (although occasionally mentioning the cause of a split in the congregation), Messrs Driskill and Grisham concentrate on interesting details of the early history of each congregation, parish, or synagogue, usually naming charter members and early pastors. Some sketches list present-day officials as well. Often the architecture and building materials of the edifice are described.

Historic Churches of Texas is apparently accurate and well edited on the whole. However, it is somewhat flawed by the misspelling (especially in the Index) of some proper names, many of which could have been checked in The Handbook of Texas, which is cited in the Bibliography. This reviewer was disturbed by the repeated use of the word "script" for "scrip" and by frequent reference to the Episcopal Church as a "movement"—Do they equate it with the Temperance Movement or the campaign for women's rights?

But for the help it gives genealogists in clues to our ancestors' religious affiliations, the value of the book far outweighs such an-noyances. See related article "Early Church Fathers--and Mothers" in this issue. If you mention the article and this review in ordering the book, the authors will autograph your copy, Publisher Eakin kindly offered.

CHEROKEE NATION BIRTHS AND DEATHS 1884-1901 by Dixie Bogle. Published by McDowell Publications, 1233 Sweeney St, Owensboro KY 42301. © 1981; pp. ix + 129; maps; gazette of place names.

This book was sponsored by Northeast Oklahoma Genealogical Society, Box 484, Vinita OK 74301, and should prove a boon to historians as well as genealogists, for very little statistical documentation is available for this area prior to 1908.

In Cherokee Nation Births and Deaths, Dixie Bogle has abstracted vital data from microfilmed newspapers, Indian Chieftain and Daily Chieftain, for the period November 1884 through November 1901. These papers were devoted to the interests of the Five Civilized Tribes and others in the Indian Territory (before Oklahoma became a state in 1907).

The Introduction includes an interesting explanation of the presence of non-Indians: whites who had married Indians; those with a right to live in the land because they were U.S. government employees or had desirable skills such as doctors, mechanics and missionaries; those who were granted permits to work for the Cherokees because they had experience in farming, cattle-raising, etc.

Non-Indian laborers who brought the railroad into the Nation in 1871 stayed on, and many more intruders established settlements.

The newspapers chronicled the births and deaths of Indians and Anglos alike, and Mrs. Bogle has tabulated such events in alphabetical sequence of the surname involved. The second column primarily refers to deaths (if there is an obituary it is so stated); births or other events are designated, and the place is given. The third column is the date of the newspaper (not necessarily date of the event). Place names are well located in a section following the Bibliography, as well as on the five maps.

A thoughtful bonus is supplied by the abstracter: two addresses to which one may write to obtain a copy of selected items.

This book has been placed in the Genealogy Section of Texas State Library as a gift of Austin Genealogical Society and of the following individuals: Johnie Reeves, Mary Frances Kiefer, Mrs. John M. Pinckney Jr., Mrs. Lucie C. Price, Julia M. Vinson, LaVerne Danos, and Betty M. McAnelly.

At the July meeting of AGS, Dr. David B. Gracy II fascinated the audience with a slide show entitled "Moses Austin--A Genealogical Odyssey." Dr. Gracy showed and spoke about places and artifacts connected with the Austin family in New England, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Missouri and Texas, as well as the European archives in which he made some amazing discoveries. ...If you missed this outstanding program, I hope you were on a fruitful odyssey of your own:
THE COMPLETE BOOK FOR TRACING YOUR IRISH ANCESTORS © 1980 by Michael C. O'Laughlin. 8½ x 11; 224 pp.; hardbound; part printer's type, part typewritten; maps; illustrations. $24.95 from publisher: Irish Genealogical Foundation, Box 7575, Kansas City MO 64116.

This is a handsome book which contains much information about searching for Irish ancestors in the U.S.A., Ireland, and (briefly) Canada, Europe and Australia. The first part will no doubt be of special interest to those who have done little or no ancestor hunting, as it gives a step-by-step case history of the author's own research, mostly 19th Century.

Mr. O'Laughlin offers some common-sense advice; I was particularly impressed by his attitude toward unconfirmed coats of arms. Yet he failed to cite proof of the two he printed with his family names.

One page consists of "The O'Loughlin Family Tree" (as if there were only one) which looks like a highly complex chemical formula--neat and impressive, but sadly in need of explanation.

Illustrations consist of a few photographs and photocopies of manuscript, a few line drawings, and some helpful outline maps, especially one showing locations of surnames. In my opinion, a time frame of reference should have been furnished for this map, and credit given to the compiler, for it indicates exhaustive study.

One of the most invidious symptoms of "geneallergy" seems to be the irresistible urge to exaggerate. Prominently displayed on the dust jacket of ...Irish Ancestors are the words "With Color Illustrations!" The reference is to about four pages printed in green ink--three are outline maps with place names in green, which would have been more legible in black. And of course the word "Complete" in the title is another case in point, not to mention the phrase "both illustrious branches of my family."

The lack of adequate proofreading is painfully evident throughout this book. Merely cursory scanning turned up at least the 20 most frequently misspelled words in English (I wonder if Siege was spelled wrong in two book titles he quoted). There is apparent misunderstanding of the rules of capitalization, hyphenation (e.g., "Great, great grandmother"), quotation, italicization, and the use of apostrophes, commas, etc. Emigration is used for immigration, i.e. for i.e., "Later Day Saints"--it's a shame to produce such an expensive book with so many blemishes.

The information appears to be comprehensive, but the author slipped up on p. 165, saying the 1850 census is not indexed--many such indices have been printed. And on p. 54, Step #20 seems to be continued from an omitted page and refers to "book #28 on following page" which I was unable to find.

Now for the positive aspects: Part II, "Records & Repositories in Ireland" is an excellent outline of sources that can be examined in Ireland, as well as the addresses of said repositories. Although the author's study was primarily in 19th-Century Roman Catholic records, he does list many sources for Protestants, and somewhat earlier dates.

A thorough study of ...Irish Ancestors would vastly improve one's chances of finding gold at the foot of the rainbow--a trip to the Emerald Isle to visit the places where your ancestors lived.

This book has been placed in Texas State Library through the generosity of AGS and Jane Baker, Helen N. Deathe, Mary R. Pinckney, Jon Goins, Geraldine B. Holland, Hazel Buffaloe, W.E. Cooper, Mattie Toungate, Merle Sheridan, Betty McAnelly, LaVerne Danos, Bob and Misse Dumas, and Andrea Nagel.

OUR KIN by Laban Miles Hoffman. Published 1915; recently reprinted by Gaston County Historical Society; available at Gaston County Art & History Museum Sales Shop, Box 429, Dallas NC 28034. 578 pp.; index; $15 + $1.50.

We have not seen this book, but Museum Director Alan D. Waufle recommended it by letter to Dr. David B. Gracy II. He declared: "The various ancestries are traced back to the mid-18th century when this area was settled. ... Hoffman included infants when he wrote. ... Our Kin ... is a good genealogy of the following families: "Hoffman, Rhyme, Costner, Rudisill, Best, Hovis, Hoyle, Wills, Shetley, Jenkins, Holland Hambright [sic], Gaston, Withers, Cansler, Clemmer, and Lineberger."

WEAKLEY COUNTY TENNESSEE MARRIAGE RECORDS, 1843-1863, compiled by Weakley County Genealogical Society, Box 92, Martin TN 38237. 86 pp.; index of brides.

These marriage records were compiled and copyrighted in 1980 by the society under the presidency of Mrs. Mac Buckley. Licenses issued in the first 20 years of the county's existence are lost, according to the office of the County Court Clerk at Dresden.

This is a very attractive book with appropriate cover design and firm binding. It is excellently typed on good buff-colored paper.

The Foreword speaks of "date of return" but does not specify if that was the date the marriage was solemnized. "When no date of return was given, the date of issuance is given. ..."

The copyists seem to have had a great deal of trouble deciphering the handwriting, and an inordinate number of standard given names are misspelled, perhaps due to the whim of the entry clerk. But because of the good typing and uncluttered format, the book is easy to scan for the desired data: groom, bride, date, officiant (J.P. or M.G.), or "No Return."

The book has been placed in Texas State Library as the gift of AGS and five members: Mary Frances Kiefer, Gordon W. Griffin, Jack A. Dabbs, Betty M. McAnelly and M.S. Dickerson. They probably have a particular interest in Weakley County--call them and compare notes!

A POLITICIAN'S MODEST (?) REQUEST [A small-town newspaper made it even more modest by a typographical error.] "I am not seeking a monument, as I would be satisfied with a simple slap at the head of my last resting place, saying that 'The world was better because he lived in it.'"

These attractively covered volumes contain (in most cases) far more information than can be found in a decennial census. In 1911 a state law provided that Arkansas tax assessors should enumerate Confederate veterans in their counties, using questionnaires provided for that purpose. This series makes available to the public the data thus recorded in 44 counties—no records found for the other 31.

Time had eroded the memories of some old soldiers, but the most complete of the questionnaires give the veteran's full name, post office, date and place of his birth as well as his parents and occasionally grandparents. In addition to the veteran's own military service, often he cited his ancestors' service in the Revolutionary and other wars, what country they came from, etc. The form requested information pertaining to education, religious affiliation, political party, profession or occupation; also date of marriage, name of wife and her parents, and finally a full list of his children.

Neatly typed and spaced, subjects' names are in alphabetical sequence; the biographical data in orderly format, most being dated and certified to by the county tax assessor.

The editors of Arkansas... Veterans announce that they made no attempt to correct spelling (not even of well-known generals or places) which saved them a great deal of effort, as spelling evidently is not their strong suit. (They misspelled "questionnaire" repeatedly, and confused "remuneration" with "enumeration." But it would have been helpful to the out-of-state reader if they had identified Arkansas place names, especially when misspelled.

But such flaws detract little from the tremendous value of the books, if you are fortunate enough to have had a Confederate ancestor in one of the 44 named counties. Would that every Southern state had enacted such a law! The compilers deserve the Confederate Cross of Honor for attacking and conquering these difficult old records.

Those who contributed toward placing these books in the Genealogy Section of Texas State Library are: Gordon & Nelda Griffin, Andrea Nagel, Mary Frances Kiefer, O.M. Cunningham, Clarence Guelker, Pat Culpepper, Bob & Misse Dumas, Betty McAnelly, Hazel Buffaloe, E.J. Castille, Mary R. Pinckney, Helen N. Deathe, Eunice D. Watson.

Now that "millions of Americans spell relief R-O-L-A-I-D-S" and others have been brainwashed into spelling cheese K-R-A-F-T, it appears that those few who respect correct spelling are fast becoming an endangered species, observes Dr. Homer Sapience.

[We are rolaided to hear that M-O-T-H-E-R still spells Mother.]

We are indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Francis (AGS members) for copying these few remaining gravestones in what was once the cemetery of Mendoza Baptist Church. (A neighbor said many families had moved their relatives elsewhere.) Mr. Francis was disappointed at not finding a stone for his great-grandfather, B.F. Benham.
Because it is always heartwarming to find young people who are interested in family history, we are happy to present this poem (written when she was 12) by the daughter of Dr. David Gracy.

Have you ever thought of your life
As a story or a book?
Every single one of us
Has something interesting at which to look.
Your life may be a fairy tale,
A lyric or an ode,
A horror story, a pleasant tale—
One of these is your mode.

Before you write your history,
You must first know yourself.
Your past, the future, the present too,
These are all parts of you.
You know your plans for college,
You know your feelings now,
But have you ever explored your past,
Your why and your how?

Your heritage did not start two years ago,
Nor three, nor four;
It is the lives of your ancestors,
Your own family lore.
Your ancestors lived many years ago,
They were much like you in their day,
Creating history and heritage,
Actors of the family lines play.

So ......

Have you ever thought of your life
As a story or a book?
Well, trace your family history,
Give your story another look.
You may well be surprised at
The heritage in store;
You'll find an interesting story--
Your own family lore.

A "SHORT" REMINISCENCE

In 1967 Henry C. Short of Fayetteville AR wrote an interesting letter to Mrs. James Seals of Cedar Park (Williamson Co) TX, an AGS member. From it we learn that Mr. Short's parents, George W. and Mary Matilda (Nash) Short, were originally from Navarro Co, TX, and both are buried in Rochelle (McCulloch Co), Texas.

George W. Short, who died in 1902, engaged in "ranch work" and moved around a lot, living first in Poolville, Wise Co. Other counties they lived in included McCulloch, Tarrant [presumably--he said "near Ft. Worth"], San Saba, Coryell, Mills, Brazos, Bastrop, and Bell, all in Texas.

George had a brother James who lived west of Fort Worth, another "somewhere in Oklahoma, Indian Territory then," and a younger brother, Frank, who moved into Oklahoma later.

George and Mary Matilda Short had a son who was born about 1879 (was 88 in 1967); another (Theodore) born in 1882 at Richland Springs, San Saba Co; and a third (Henry) who was 9 or 10 when his father died in 1902 (hence born ca 1892).

Henry C. Short remembered his mother's telling him they left McCulloch Co twice because "there was so much mobing" [depredations by mobs of outlaws]. One night when his father was nearing his home, two masked men stopped him, but one said he was not the man they were looking for, and they let him ride on, warning him to stay inside when he got home. Mr. Short removed his family to a safer place for fear the outlaws would suspect that he had recognized them--"At that time, it payed to keep your mouth shut."

Theodore Short recollected that in about 1889 four Texas Rangers were sent to the town of San Saba to check into the situation. Some of the lawbreakers sent word that they would come to town on a certain night to kill the Rangers, but when they saw who they were, "they were very quiet, not a shot fired." [Rangers were sent to Navarro Co in 1888 to put a stop to the fence-cutting range war--see The Handbook of Texas, Vol. I, p. 590.]

Henry Short recalled an incident about one of the Rangers who had such an impressive dream that he woke his captain and told him the head man of the mob was about to leave the country, that they'd better go nab him while they could. The captain replied, "Go back to bed--there's nothing to a dream." As soon as the Ranger got to sleep again he had the same dream.

Thoroughly convinced, the man saddled his horse and rode out alone. Sure enough, he found the man preparing to skip the country. Fortunately, the Ranger was able to get the drop on the outlaw and bring him in. When the man was convicted and sent to the pen, that stopped the trouble in that county for a while.

Henry Short's brother Theodore knew one of those Rangers, so this incident was well vouched for.
"RECONSTRUCTED" OBITUARIES

Members of AGS are invited to compose obituaries for publication in our September issues. This is an opportunity to gather together the various interesting bits one has found about a given person, forming a thumbnail sketch. If members are unable to get their charts to the editor in time for the June issue, they may prefer to work part of that data into an obituary rather than wait another year. Next obituary deadline is 10 Aug 1982 at 2202 W. 10, 78703.

As an example, I have composed one that could have appeared in The Gonzales Inquirer on Wednesday 31 Jan 1900. No doubt there was an obituary for my maternal great-grandfather, but I do not have a copy. It would be interesting to see how much my "pretend" obituary differs from the real one. --Helen H. Rugeley

PROMINENT ATTORNEY
LAID TO REST HERE

Thomas Moore Harwood, well-known attorney of Gonzales, died at his residence at 8:30 p.m. Monday, January 29, 1900. He was laid to rest with Masonic honors in the Masonic Cemetery here today. Also a part of the services was the solemn ritual for the dead of the United Confederate Veterans Association.

Brother T.M. Harwood was raised to the degree of Master Mason in March 1852 in Matagorda Lodge No. 7, A.F. & A.M., and affiliated with Gonzales Lodge No. 30 about April 1855, being made a life member in 1898. He was a Royal Arch Mason and a Knight Templar.

Mr. Harwood joined the Presbyterian Church of Gonzales in 1861, was installed a Deacon in 1867 and a Ruling Elder in 1877.

Thomas Moore Harwood was a distinguished member and one-time commander of J.C.G. Key Camp, No. 156, United Confederate Veterans, having served in the Army of the Confederacy from July 3, 1861 through the first part of 1865. Shortly after enlisting in an Alabama regiment in Virginia he became impatient with the lack of action and obtained permission to return home for the purpose of recruiting troops. (This and a short visit early in 1864 constituted his only furloughs.) While here he was elected first lieutenant of the Jim Wilson Guards, "99 Texas Tigers."

Most of Major Harwood's military career was spent in Company F, Willis' Battalion, Waul's Legion, participating in cavalry engagements throughout Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky and Georgia. He was successively promoted from lieutenant through captain and major to acting lieutenant colonel.

Born September 30, 1827, on the family plantation "Newington" near King and Queen County Court House, Virginia, Thomas Moore Harwood received his higher education at the University of Virginia, then earned his law degree at Balston Spa, New York, in 1850. He immediately embarked for the promising field of Texas, landing on Christmas Eve 1850 at Matagorda. There he taught school until September 1852 when he became teacher-principal of Prairie Lea Academy in Caldwell County.
He moved to Gonzales on August 27, 1853, to enter into the practice of law, taking a partner, A.J. McKean, a few months later. Subsequent law partners included Col. James C. Wilson, Everett Lewis, S.F. Harwood, John S. Conway, S.F. Winston, and his son, T.F. Harwood.

On February 11, 1857, T.M. Harwood married Cordelia, second daughter of Dr. David Franklin Brown of Prairie Lea. They set up housekeeping in a small house until their home on St. Joseph St. was built; in 1884 that was enlarged into a ten-room residence of "Swiss-style" architecture, its design attributed to Abner Cook, whom Mr. Harwood had met in Austin while serving on the Board of Regents of the University of Texas October 1881 to January 1895.

Twice offered appointments (to serve as a district judge and as State Commissioner of Appeals), Major Harwood declined both gubernatorial offers, preferring to remain at home after his long absence in the Civil War. He won a place in the law books by a masterful decision in Bell Co. in 1886.

Thomas Moore Harwood is survived by his widow; by three sons: Thomas Franklin, Archibald Roane, and Samuel Lycurgus Harwood; by three daughters: Mrs. William Henry Stacy of Austin and Misses Martha Fauntleroy and Mary Frances of this city; and by grandsons Miller, Amasa Turner, Winston, Thomas Michael, Archibald Roane, Franklin Brown, Wallace Baker and Donald Douglas Harwood.

Also by four Stacy grandchildren: Thomas Harwood, William Gillespie and Franklin Allison and their sister Cordelia Brown, all of Austin. Harwood granddaughters are Cordelia Brown, Armour Rogan, Elizabeth Wallace, Antoinette, Frances Fauntleroy, and Dorothy.

Major Harwood's only close relatives still living in Virginia are his oldest brother Samuel Fauntleroy Harwood, his sister Emily Garnett Harwood, and his sister Martha Catherine (Mrs. Wm. Beverley Bird).

It seems fitting to close with a quotation from the resolution passed by the Board of Regents of the University of Texas: "As a patriot, a soldier, a skillful lawyer, a Christian gentleman, a true friend of higher education, he has lived his long life without fear and without reproach . . ."

Lambert rites

Services were pending Monday at Porter Loring Mortuary for retired Army Col. Joseph Idus Lambert.

Lambert, 85, of 536 Terrell Road, died Sunday. His father, Joseph Napoleon Lambert, was a deputy U.S. marshal in Fort Smith, Ark., during the time the "hanging judge," Isaac Parker, had jurisdiction in that district.

Lambert, a writer, historian and teacher, traced his ancestry to six Revolutionary War soldiers.

He wrote and published a book on the history of the 2nd Cavalry Division, "One Hundred Years with the Second Calvary," and numerous historical magazine articles.

Lambert was a member of the Chattanooga, Tenn., and San Antonio chapters of the Sons of the American Revolution; State Association of Texas Pioneers, San Antonio Historical Association, San Antonio and Texas State Apartment Associations; 2nd Cavalry Regiment Association, 10th Armored Division Association and the Retired Officers Association.

Survivors include his wife, Elizabeth Kirwan Lambert; a son, Dr. Joseph Buckley Lambert; two daughters, Mrs. Thille Adelaide Newton and Mrs. Nancy Kirwan Davenport; and 10 grandchildren.
After I had given up hope of receiving obituaries for this issue, two interesting ones arrived—one composed by a member and the other clipped from a newspaper. The latter was too long for our space and, regretfully, had to be condensed.

[The following obituary is thought to be from the Houma Courier, Houma LA. Mr. Walther's sister, Mrs. Roberta Seale, was the mother of AGS member Mrs. H. R. Gentry (née Emma Gene Seale).]
Gibson resident Owen Newell Walther, 85, a retired engineer, died Sunday [29 July 1979] at Ochsner Foundation Hospital in New Orleans following a lengthy illness. The funeral will be at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday from Chauvin Funeral Home, followed by graveside services at the Methodist Cemetery in Gibson.

Born December 29, 1893, the son of Henry Walther and Emma A. Pratt, Owen Walther was educated in Gibson public schools and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute at Ruston. Receiving an engineering degree in 1914, he soon became licensed in Louisiana and Pennsylvania.

Mr. Walther was employed as a research engineer in heating and air conditioning in Buffalo, New York and then in Akron, Ohio until, in 1916, he enlisted in the chemical warfare service of the U.S. Army in Washington DC. Commissioned a second lieutenant within 90 days, he helped develop a flare for nighttime observations, conducting tests using the Washington Monument with special permission from President Wilson.

Leaving the service in 1919, Mr. Walther and two other engineers organized the York Heating and Ventilation Corp. in Pennsylvania. He served as vice president and chief engineer until 1928 when he left the company as it was being merged with Carrier Corporation.

Returning to Gibson, Louisiana, Mr. Walther constructed a ginning plant, producing as much as 100 box cars per year and shipping the product to many parts of the nation and Canada. He also engaged in raising beef cattle, maintaining three grazing locations.

Other endeavors for Mr. Walther were the production of honey and "packaged bees," shrimp-meal supplement, and cypress pilings for the first U.S. Highway 90 Atchafalaya bridge at Morgan City. He designed and/or constructed shrimp-freezing plants in the early 1940s, several ice plants, 20 or more warehouses, feed manufacturing plants, bulk-oil storage plants, filling stations, supermarkets and wharves.

Mr. Walther was largely responsible for bringing REA to this area of the state, serving as president of South Louisiana Electric Cooperative Association during its first two years.

This civic-minded Gibson resident served 12 years on the Terrebonne Parish School Board and the same length of time on the Parish Police Jury. He was active in obtaining federal approval for enlargement of Bayou Black and other channels to the Gulf of Mexico.

As chairman of the Terrebonne Parish Civil War Centennial Committee, he helped compile a list of Confederate veterans from Louisiana. His Senator, Claude B. Duval, testified: "The loss of so talented, capable and dedicated a man is a loss to every citizen."

Survivors include a brother, Stanley Walther of Gibson. Owen Walther was preceded in death by his parents, three brothers: Joseph Philip, Henry Jr., and Curtis Clifford (Bud) Walther; and three sisters: Mrs. Louise Griffin, Mrs. Carline Simmons and Mrs. Roberta Seale.

The family requested that donations be made to the American Cancer Society in lieu of flowers.

BAKER_KNIGHT_MOORE_SMITH_SOUTHERNWOOD_THOMPSON. Searching for link between Thompson and Southernwood families. Ben Thompson (born 1843 in Knottingley, Yorkshire, England) married Kate (Catherine) Moore when he was on furlough from the Confederate Army. [Price's record of marriages in Travis Co, TX, shows Benjamin Thompson and Kate L. Moore were married 24 Nov 1863 by Charles Gillett, priest of St. David's Episcopal Church in Austin.]

She was the daughter of Martin and Elizabeth (born in Alabama) Moore (1870 Census of --- Co, TX, and "Proof of Heirship of Martin Moore, deceased" in AGS Quarterly, XIV:22-23). In 1868 Ben Thompson was "found guilty of threatening the life of a justice of the peace and sentenced to the pen at Huntsville for 4 years; remained 2 years." [Ed. Note: According to The Handbook of Texas, that was a very mild episode in a life filled with violence.]

Ben Thompson was killed 11 Mch 1884 in the Old Variety Theatre in San Antonio, Texas. [The Handbook calls it the Vaudeville Theatre and says Thompson had killed the owner two years earlier--Ed.] At that time, the Ben Thompsons were residing in Austin on University Avenue between 19th and 21st streets, a spot now occupied by the University Christian Church Bible Chair. [The 1872-73 Austin City Directory (p. 106 of AGS Quarterly, XIV No. 4) shows a Ben and a Ben H. Thompson.]

Ben had several sisters and brothers, including Billy, born ca 1845. In 1884, Ben's mother was living in Bastrop Co [per W.M. Walton's Life and Adventures of Ben Thompson, the Famous Texan; "The Unsolved Murder of Ben Thompson" by Paul Adams in Southwestern Historical Quarterly, 1944-1945]. I am seeking additional data to clarify the tradition of relationship to:

George Baker (mother's maiden name) Southernwood, b. 1855 in Knottingley, England; came to Texas ca 1876. About 1885 he married Martha Smith Knight. Her mother was a Smith and is said to have married first a Smith and then D.C. Knight, Martha's stepfather. Need data on both of Martha's parents.

George and Martha SOUTHERNWOOD had 3 sons: (1) Joe Hollingsworth, my grandfather; (2) George Baker Jr.; (3) Willie Lyons.--Martha Jo Southernwood, 1734 Arlington Dr, Corpus Christi TX 78415.

Wish information on family of Rose/Rosa Lee Wilson, born 31 Mch 1891 in Arkansas to James & Sarah (----) Wilson. Rose married (when & where?) William Arthur Sanders--need data on him. Will gladly exchange.--Ms Ardella Maulton, RR 1 Box 151, Herscher IL 60941.
BAISE/BAIZE/BAZE/BOZE_CLAYTON_COBB_KIZER_LEATHERWOOD_MATTHEWS.
Sarah E. Baze was born ca 1844 to William and Jane (Kizer) Baze in MO; shown with them on 1850 Census of Barry Co, MO. Also on 1860 Census of Lampasas Co, TX, and named among William's 9 children in his will filed in 1861 in Lampasas. On 24 Sep 1865, D.P. Baze/Baize, M.G. (brother of William) performed a marriage for Clay Cobb and Mrs. Sarah E. Leatherwood at Bold Springs, McLennan Co, TX. If she was nee Sarah E. Baze, would like to learn details of her first marriage as well as this one.

Charlotte C. Baze (born ca 1846) was sister of the above and seen in same early records (their father's will is in Snyder Texas Museum). On 1 May 1873, Charlotte's brother M.P. Baige sold city lots in Lampasas to Mrs. C. Clayton. In 1877 Charlotte Clayton "of Coleman Co" sold same lots to R.P. Clayton (What relation?), and in 1878 he sold them to John C. Matthews.

The mother of these sisters, Jane (Kizer) Baze, died 18 Apr 1903 in Alamogordo NM and was buried at La Luz. Name spelled Baize in obituary; has even been interpreted as Boze.

My grandfather, M.P. Baze (d. 22 Nov 1933 in Mitchell Co, TX), often said one of his sisters died in the Territory of New Mexico while her family was on a prospecting trip, and was buried beside the trail. Does anyone share this tradition? I'd gladly trade information.--Albert E. Baze, 3532 Socorro Rd, Fort Worth TX 76116.

The Trogdons' dau Lona Elizabeth (b. 16 Mch 1872 Brown Co, TX; d. 14 Mch 1952 Brookshire, Waller Co, TX) m. Casper John Rhemann. Data appreciated.--Mrs. Kathleen B. Rheman, 9130 Western Dr, Houston TX 77080.

(Allen) Chapman. I have some data on them, but more welcome.--Charles L. Vance, Rte 2 Box 341-A, Frisco TX 75034.

Lived in Texas afterwards; married Margaret P. Caldwell 25 June 1849 in Travis Co. Died 1865 in Bastrop Co, TX. One ancestor or relative believed to have been involved in a coal mine accident in West Virginia.--Howard W. Martin, 2120 Grant, El Paso TX 79930.

ANCESTOR HUNTERS LOCATE MISSING DESCENDANT

We are thankful to announce that the young man reported as missing on p. 49 of our last issue has turned up safe and sound here in Austin. Chief credit for locating Frank Gentry was given to AGS Quarterly by Rep. Jake Pickle, who called the incident "one for the 'Believe It or Not' columns!" It seems that one of our readers had access to some records that revealed where the young man was.

Our ever-helpful member, Podie Ligon, calls our attention to a notice in a recent Genealogical Helper. Inasmuch as this struggling society is in our state (between Crosbyton and Abilene), we are glad to pass on their plea with our endorsement.

WANTED: Small genealogical society with limited budget will be glad to pay postage on any books or materials donated to our group, to be placed in our genealogy section of the county library.

KENT CO. GENEALOGICAL & HISTORICAL SOCIETY, Box 344, Jayton TX 79528

"CENSUS FUNNIES"

Genealogical researchers who read census occasionally run across an amusing name or remark which we'd like to share. You are invited to send what you find to the editor of AGS Quarterly to use as fillers from time to time.

A few such chuckleables have been furnished by Mrs. H. R. Gentry. Most of us have laughed politely at the clown who says, "I'm afraid to look up my family tree--afraid I'd find a horse thief hanging there!" Well, in Caddo Parish, LA, she did find three men whose occupation was listed as "Horse thief," Further scrutiny suggested that they were in prison, as other men occupied themselves with murder, bigamy and larceny.

Vying for Oddest Names: In Burleson Co, TX, in 1870, the head of a household was The Prophet Moses (78 M B); in Franklin Co, OH, the white Cable family named their infant daughter Loving Lovely Loveliest; in Wayne Co, NY, a hostler from Alsace bore the name of Chris Coldmorning [translation from French or German?]

In 1840, the enumerator of Lafourche Parish just had to give up on spelling two names. He put down Joseph Hebert Something and Abel Damned hard.

Uriah S. Waldrip and wife must have been pleased with his arrival date when they named their son Punctual (15 on 1850 Hart Co, KY, census).

Among unusual occupations we have seen "Show acter" and "Keeper of Boddy House." In 1880 the Baltimore census taker did not skip the "Home for Fallen Women."

ZIP PLUS 4 CODE

The Post Office is pushing the voluntary use of four more digits attached by a hyphen to the five already assigned to each zone. They cite four benefits:

1) More efficient and consistent mail service
2) Greater accuracy in handling and delivery
3) Reduced Postal Service costs
4) More stable rates—our reduced costs will result in smaller or less frequent rate increases

Could anyone be opposed to those goals?

Special monetary incentives are offered to businesses that comply with the new guidelines, but individuals surely need no bribe to endorse this program. Taking the time to accurately copy a correspondent's full number seems a small price to pay for improved service.

Did you know that ZIP means Zone Improvement Program? (That's why all three letters should be capitals—not Zip as in zipper.)

The first digit is the national area (group of states), the second two represent the sectional center or large city, and the last two the post office (town) or delivery area (of a city). Thus Austin is 787, Georgetown, Bastrop, Buda etc. are 786, and Del Rio, Brackettville etc. are 788. Learn the new code in groups of digits: 3-2-4.

I am a non-numerical person myself, and deplore the depersonalization of modern automation. But I shall resist the temptation to stubbornly refuse to cooperate, because, as the announcement so logically states:

"Keep in mind that the sooner you start using your ZIP PLUS 4 code, the sooner our ZIP PLUS 4 mail volume will grow, and the sooner all of us will enjoy the benefits of increased postal productivity through automation."

The AGS mailing address will be Box 774, Austin TX 78767-0774.
