AGS FALL FESTIVAL
POTLUCK DINNER 6:15 p.m.
Don’t be late or you’ll have an empty plate!
The AGS Fall Festival, Tuesday, November 24th, is a tradition that was started a number of years ago and has become a wonderful way to share the bounty and the warmth of the holiday season with many AGS friends. AGS will provide the turkey, and several members have signed up to bring their favorite salad, vegetable, or dessert. You're sure to enjoy a special evening at our last meeting of the year!

For Those Bringing Goodies
RSVP to Kay Boyd, mkdb1405@gmail.com no later than Sunday, November 22nd! Let her know what side or dessert item you will be bringing. Please bring your item with a serving utensil if necessary on Tuesday, November 24, by 6:00 p.m.

PROGRAM 7:00 p.m.
The Orphan Train
Jenna Margaret Hays McEachern
Jenna McEachern has long been interested in the life story of her grandmother, Genevieve Margaret McCabe. Genevieve was orphaned in New York and somehow landed in East Bernard, Texas. She was reared by a Czech family, grew up to speak Czech, and believed she was Czech.

When she was fourteen, a priest from New York visited her in East Bernard and handed her money that her father had put aside for her education. That is when she found out that she was Irish, the daughter of Ellen Mae Murphy and Peter Patrick McCabe. Researching her grandmother’s life brought to light her incredible story and brought Jenna face-to-face with some “known facts” which turned out to be family myths.

Jenna McEachern worked in The University of Texas Sports Information Department while pursuing her degree in photojournalism. She has been a freelance designer and editor for 35 years and has published five books: What It Means to be a Longhorn (with Bill Little); 100 Things Longhorn Fans Should Know and Do Before They Die, the revised version of 100 Things, Longhorn Nation, and DKR: The Royal Scrapbook.

Jenna and her husband, Randy, are native Texans who came to The University in 1972 and never left. Their three children are proud third-generation Austin High Maroons.

Happy Holidays to You!
We do not have a regular AGS meeting nor a newsletter in December. We wish you a joyous and peaceful holiday season. We will return to providing our monthly newsletter and regular meetings in January.

Can you help break down these brick walls?

From member Roberta Jenkins, rjenkins7@austin.rr.com
My great great grandfather Joshua Cochran was indentured at age 12 in Miller Co. Missouri in 1836. Where was he before that? Where was he born? His father’s name was Edward. Family oral history says he and his 10 year old brother, John, five year old sister, Hester, were found in a crofter’s cabin on the Osage river.

From member Erin Garcia, erinissima@gmail.com
I am trying to connect my family in Missouri to Virginia, where I think they originated. John C. Robertson lived in Albemarle City, VA, and immigrated to St. Louis City, MO. How can I prove that “my” John C. Robertson is the same man who lived in Virginia? (I think he was born about 1810 and I know he died in St. Louis in 1842.)

From member Deborah Glenn, victorzglenn@yahoo.com
Anyone have LeFevre ancestry? We desperately need help straightening out our gateway ancestor and his correct spouse on the Lefevre line (1600s New Amsterdam/New York.) Thank you in advance. Any Deyo, Andries, or other Huguenots can possibly help. :)

Do you have a brick wall? Feel free to send it in for the newsletter to newsletter@austintxgensoc.org or post it to our facebook page “Austin Genealogical Society Members helping Members.”

AGS 2015 Year in Review

We Supported Records Preservation

In 2015, AGS was true to its purpose by donating funds to various organizations who preserve genealogical records. We provided $2000 to the Texas General Land Office (glo.texas.gov) toward the conservation of the Austin City Lots collection. We provided $1995 to the Austin History Center (library.austintexas.gov/ahc) to purchase a polyester sealing machine for use in encapsulating rare and fragile documents. We donated $500 to the War of 1812 Preserve the Pensions (preservethepensions.org) digitization project which was matched by Ancestry.com to provide a total of $1000 to this effort. We will purchase the Passenger and Immigration Lists Index 2015 Supplement when it is published in December and provide it to the Texas State Library and Archives Commission (www tsl.texas.gov).

We Reached 100 Travis County Pioneer Certificates!

2015 has been our busiest year for awarding Travis County Pioneer certificates! Fifteen people have received a certificate for having ancestors arrive in Travis County by the year 1880. The earliest of these residents was proven to be in Travis County in 1839. As of this date AGS has presented 100 certificates in this program.

Applications for Pioneer Families of Travis County can be found at austintxgensoc.org/ or from Kay Dunlap Boyd, P.O. Box 10010, Austin, Texas 78766-1010.

Gunfights & Sites in Texas History, by Mike Cox
arcadiapublishing.com

This is a great reference book for anyone with Texas Ranger’s in their family tree! A comprehensive list of sites, gravestones, monuments and the stories of Texas Rangers and their achievements arranged by Texas county.

Book Review: from Member Robin Raben
The America Ground, by Nathan Dylan Goodwin

This is the third book in the genealogical crime mystery series about the adventures of forensic genealogist Morton Farrier. The very first pages of the book makes you HAVE to keep on reading. If you like a mystery, and like to search through genealogical archives, this is a series for you. I never knew searching the archives could be so dangerous! amazon.com

Book Review: from Member Lise Doss
The Hare with Amber Eyes, Edmund de Waal

This book reads like a novel. It traces one line of the author’s family back four generations. It touches on art, the Holocaust, and the journey of a family from rags to riches to more rags and more riches. It travels from Odessa to Vienna, Paris and London. Good illustrations too. Shows how family history and names can be forgotten or changed in just a few generations. amazon.com

What you need to know about the 1940 Census

By John Marostica

The 1940 Census has two rather noteworthy features, the Supplementary Questions and the Codes in the “Letter named” columns. View/Print the census form here.

[1] The Supplementary Questions were asked randomly for about 5% (about 2 per page) of the population. There are 16 questions.

The first four questions have to do with name, the parent’s birthplace and earliest childhood language. The next three questions are about veteran status. The rest of the questions only apply to persons over 14 years of age. Three of the questions are about Social Security status, three questions about Occupation and lastly, three questions about ‘All women who are or have been married.’

These questions not only offer information about the individual, but can offer insights into the family dynamic. The questions could lead us to other records we had not previously thought of looking at.

For a list of questions, go to 1940census.archives.gov/questions-asked/

[2] There are also 10 ‘Letter named’ columns that contain alpha-numerical codes.

While these codes do not contain any new data that is not already on the census form, they can be used to decipher what is written in the columns. These letter named columns are coded after the enumerator is finished with the form. Knowing the code can help you decipher the content of a field that is not legible for whatever reason.

In the list of published information below you will find details about the codes.

But the best way to decipher these codes is to go to stevemorse.org/census/mcodes1940.htm.

Occupation codes can be found at stevemorse.org/census/ocodes1940.htm.

Can You Help?
Archeologists Seeking Information on Buried Inverted Bottle Alignments found in German Households
Submitted by AGS Member Liz Hicks

During a recent TxDOT-sponsored excavation near downtown Houston, Prewitt and Associates archeologists uncovered an unusual archeological feature containing lines of ceramic and glass bottles, buried upside-down, in the yard area of a late nineteenth century German house. They have only excavated a portion of this feature, but they believe these bottles may have been ornamental and were buried along the edge of an oyster-shell walkway behind or beside a house. These include ceramic ale (ginger beer) bottles, tall ceramic seltzer (mineral water) bottles, a glass liquor bottle, a glass wine bottle, and a glass beer bottle (C. Conrad and Company’s “The Original Budweiser”).

The photograph at the left shows a series of features, including two perpendicular bottle alignments, found in the yard area behind or beside a house in the former Frost Town community near downtown Houston. The square feature at lower left is a brick foundation pier.

The photograph above is of ceramic and glass bottles from the Frost Town yard feature. They were all probably manufactured in the 1870s – 1880s.

Another example was found in Houston during the 1990s archeological investigations at Minute Maid (Astros) baseball park by Moore Archeological Consulting. This one also contained 1870s and 1880s bottles, buried upside-down in parallel alignments, associated with a German house. They believe these upside-down bottle alignments may be common features associated with old German households in Texas — but they need more information.

Do you know of any archeological examples of this type of bottle alignment?
Do you know of any historical accounts/oral histories referring to bottle alignments?
Have you seen, or know someone who has seen, this type of bottle alignment?

If so, please contact:
